Workshop Objectives:

Summary:

All the research unit chairs gave reports on the work that is being carried out by their research units.

New case studies were presented for approval, including Using Web Sites: Aspects of the Experience, and MOST Satellite Mission: Preservation of Space Telescope Data. Whether to invite Nancy Anderson to participation in e-science research was also discussed.

Anne Gilliand presented the Warrant Analysis Database and Metadata Registry and Terry Eastwood presented the Chain of Preservation model.

Discussions were held concerning public access to IP documents posted on the web site, the dissemination of IP publications in refereed journals, the process of continuing liaisons between research units, and Kyoto University's desire to join the project. There were also discussions about the upcoming archivist meeting in Vancouver and the status of the bibliography database. Finally, planning for phase three of the project was discussed.

Next Workshop: Vancouver, Canada, February 20 - 24, 2005.
