1/8: Scholarly Communication 2.0h!

Forum by Greg Tananbaum,

Representative activities include the development of a Web 2.0 strategy for a high-impact publisher, the review and critique of a strategic master plan for an ARL-member library, the creation of a business development plan for a high-tech startup seeking to enter the academic space, and the refinement of a service plan for one of the largest academic libraries systems in the world.

Greg Tananbaum is a consultant focusing on activities at the intersection of technology, content, and academia. He has served as the President of the Berkeley Electronic Press, as well as Director of Product Marketing for EndNote. Greg writes a regular column in Against the Grain covering emerging developments in the field of scholarly communication. He has served as an invited speaker at dozens of conferences, including the American Library Association, the Society for Scholarly Publishing, the Association of Professional and Learned Society Publishers, and Online Information UK. He holds a Master's Degree from the London School of Economics and a B.A. from Yale University.

2/20: Race on the Stand: African American History in the Law Library's American Trials Collection

Among Yale's many rich special collections is the American Trials Collection of the Lillian Goldman Law Library, an important repository of historical legal material. This collection contains some particularly significant holdings related to African American history, including records of the Amistad trials (1839-1840). Mike Widener, Rare Book Librarian for the Lillian Goldman Law Library, will discuss the depth of these collections and their significance for scholars of African American history.

SML Lecture Hall, February 20, 10:30-11:30 a.m.
